Loy Named Vice President of Tech Park

BATON ROUGE – Stephen Loy has been promoted to Vice President of Operations for the Louisiana Technology Park. Loy will be responsible for running the day to day operations of the incubator, including working to continue to attract early-stage companies for membership into the incubator and handling the Park's public relations. Loy's previous position was Director of Communications for the Tech Park.

"This is a new title for duties that Stephen has been doing on an interim basis since November when our executive director left. Stephen has done a tremendous job in planning and implementing Tech Park U which continues to be a stellar project of the Tech Park," Tech Park President Eddie Ashworth said.

"I am excited about the progress and work that is happening at the Tech Park. I understand the importance of Louisiana moving toward a strong, knowledge-based economy. The Tech Park plays a critical role in helping Louisiana do that," Loy said.

Loy is a graduate of Elon College, North Carolina and was named the Public Relations Association of Louisiana Practitioner of the Year for 2006.

The Louisiana Technology Park is an incubator for technology-oriented companies providing highly-subsidized services, including high-speed Internet access and business coaching that enables emerging companies to grow.
